YOUR DEPOSITS AT CCU ARE PROTECTED

Recent banking-related news stories have caused some consumers to ask if their money is secure in a bank or credit union.

While credit unions are different from banks in many ways, one way we are similar is that our deposits are federally insured. For credit unions, the insurance comes from the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund (NCUSIF) and is managed by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). This means individuals with deposits up to $250,000 per person and $500,000 per couple are protected. To learn more, visit: mycreditunion.gov/share-insurance-estimator-faq.

Meet our new Littleton branch manager

Jonathan Vergara
Littleton Branch Manager

Jonathan Vergara recently joined Colorado Credit Union as Branch Manager of our Littleton | Ken-Caryl branch. Born and raised in southwest Kansas, he recently relocated to Colorado.

He has spent the past nine years in banking working in a variety of roles from retail management to financial consulting. In his spare time he enjoys playing and watching soccer, working out, reading, and watching a good series on Netflix.

Please introduce yourself the next time you are in our Littleton branch.
